Thank you to Men's Alliance for service support and refreshments for today's service.

A third-generation washashore, A. Bowdoin "Bow" Van Riper first came to the Vineyard at the age of 3 months and, like his parents and grandparents, returned summer after summer until he figured out how not to have to leave. A historian for 40 years, he is the author, editor, or co-editor of 22 books and more than 200 articles. He is currently Research Librarian at the Martha's Vineyard Museum and lives in a house overlooking Vineyard Haven harbor where (almost) nothing of historical significance ever happened.

Mark Alan Lovewell and Molly Conole are well known Island singers who specialize in songs about the sea.
